

Says

Thinks

"We need stringent serialization to combat counterfeit drugs."

"Ensuring the safety and authenticity of pharmaceuticals is our primary responsibility."

"Efficient serialization is critical for maintaining the integrity of our products."

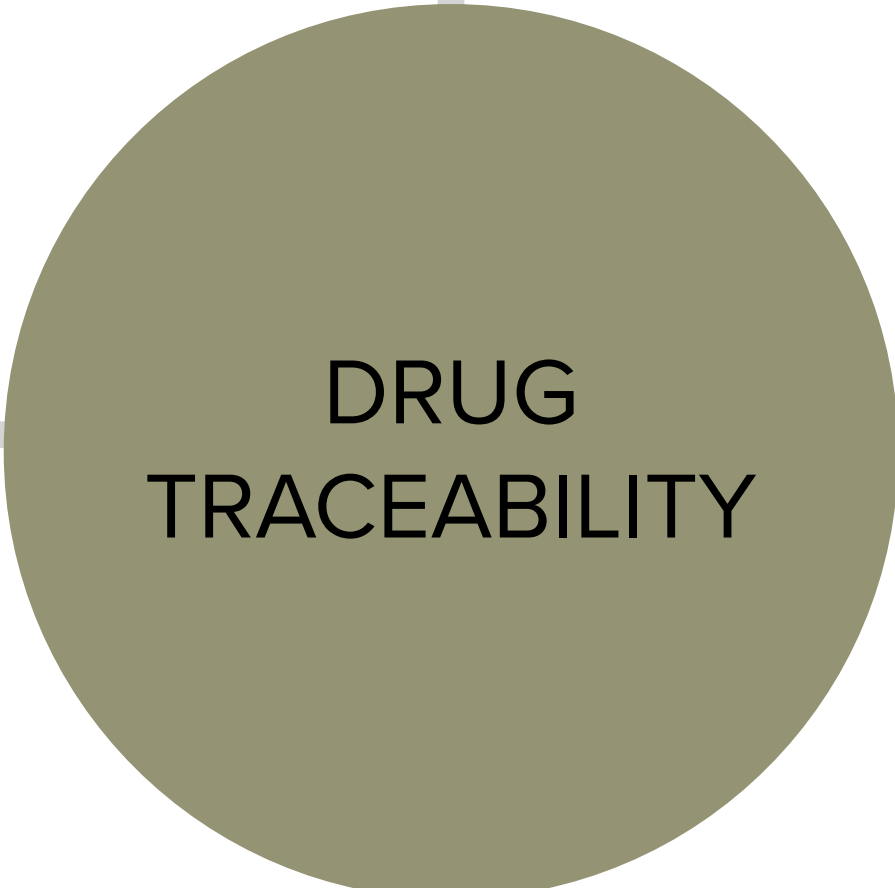

"We must invest in cutting-edge technology to meet traceability requirements."

"We rely on traceability data to verify the authenticity of medications."

"We conduct inspections and audits to enforce traceability compliance."

"Effectiveness of tracking and tracing technologies is crucial for our oversight."

"Balancing traceability compliance with daily pharmacy operations is a constant juggle."

"Implement serialization technologies and systems across our production lines."

"Set and update traceability regulations and compliance standards."

"We feel the pressure to comply with ever-evolving traceability regulations."

"We carry a significant responsibility to protect public health."

"Regularly verify the authenticity of medications using traceability data."

"Collaborate with international regulatory bodies to harmonize traceability requirements."

"A strong sense of responsibility to patients and their well-being."

"A sense of fulfillment in enforcing traceability regulations to prevent counterfeit drugs."

Does

Feels